Information Note

What does the Cherry Orchard Family Support Project do?

Our support service is a targeted integrated and trauma-informed Family Support service. The service offers a range of needs-led and outcomes-focused preventative and responsive Family Support interventions. We provide services to 30-32 families at any one time and target children aged between 5-12 years.

What we do:

We are a trauma informed Organisation and believe in a partnership-based approach, working directly with families and closely with other agencies including Tusla social workers / schools in the local community to provide intensive family support. This work includes:

- Assessing the need of children and their families using the Barnardos Assessment Framework
- Individual work with children to address a variety of identified needs
- Targeted group work with children
- Parent and child sessions / family work
- Crises intervention
- Practical family support around routines, housing, budgeting, attending appointments
- Partnership with Parents, (PwP) - home based one to one programme
- Inter-agency work - including attendance at case conferences /court /core group meetings

Where we work:

The Cherry Orchard service is based from a house within the community. Much of the work is project based, however staff carry out home visits and attend meetings around the West Dublin area, which includes Cherry Orchard and Lucan.

Who do we work with?

The service works with statutory and local /community services in the Cherry Orchard and Ballyfermot area. The service also accepts self-referrals.
